

Press Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION:

Rob Cullin
Co-owner, VP Sales and Marketing
888-519-5770
rcullin@evancedsolutions.com

Evanced Solutions Grows Library Partnerships

Indianapolis, IN — February 19, 2008 — Evanced Solutions, Inc., the leading provider of software and services related to library event management, meeting room management, and summer reading management, announced today that recent state and consortium collaborations with the State of Massachusetts, eiNetwork (PA), Mohawk Valley (NY) Library System, and Califa (CA) have fostered a significant development of Evanced Solutions products and services. Such partnerships have also helped Evanced grow to serve over 600 libraries covering more than 2500 locations across the United States, Canada, Australia, and Japan.

Maureen Ambrosino, Youth Services Consultant with the Central Massachusetts Regional Library System says, "We are thrilled that 175 libraries in the state participated in online summer reading in 2007. And, almost 20% of our participants used the Summer Reader software. Evanced has been flexible, responsive, and open to suggestions for new features since we began the partnership. Their web-based and in-person training has helped us launch summer reading programs in a new way, to reach out to library users in cities and towns across the state."

"Evanced was founded on the principal of developing strong library-vendor collaborations. We are pleased to continually develop our relationships with libraries so we can provide software and services to help them work smarter and more efficiently," says Evanced co-owner and vice president of marketing and sales, Rob Cullin. "Evanced is committed to libraries and helping them elevate their place in their communities. Evanced's portfolio of software, coupled with our extensive service offerings, will provide libraries around the world with even greater productivity solutions and unparalleled service capabilities. Additionally, Evanced customers will continue to experience the same reliable, friendly, and punctual service that they have come to expect and know over the years,” adds Cullin.

As part of Evanced's dedication, the company offers free, unlimited, online training to all their customers for all Evanced products as long as the customer's maintenance or subscription is up to date. The “Talk to the Owners” online session is also held regularly so current customers and prospects can talk with Todd Cutler and Rob Cullin, co-owners of Evanced, to discuss a wide range of topics. Visit <http://host.evanced.info/lib/eventcalendar.asp> for additional information and to register.

About Evanced Solutions

Headquartered near Indianapolis, Indiana, Evanced Solutions, Inc. is committed to software and service development for libraries. All products have been built specifically for libraries, are web-based, and are geared at managing library programs, events and registration, meeting rooms, and summer and year-round reading programs. The online interactive features go beyond other products of their kind to engage patrons in library services while also simplifying staff processes and enhancing productivity. Software may be purchased outright or hosted via a subscription.

For a demo and for information: <http://www.evancedsolutions.com> or

Contact: sales@evancedsolutions.com

Phone: (888) 519-5770

###